

The Centre for Asian Legal Studies presents:

Professor Jan Neels

Professor of Private International Law and Director of the Research Centre for Private International Law in Africa, University of Johannesburg

“Private international law of contract: the reception of the Rome model in the Far East”

The paper will trace the influence of the basic European (Rome) model of private international law of contract in recent conflicts codifications in the Far East, namely in China, Japan, South Korea and Taiwan. Reference will also be made to regional and international conventions and to the law of India and South Africa.

Thursday, December 15th
3:00pm, Allard Hall 121
(1822 East Mall)

The seminar will be followed by an early Christmas party in room 402 (the faculty lounge) for faculty, students, visiting scholars, and other participants.

Everyone is welcome!
