

Feminist Legal Research at UBC

UBC Law hosts a vibrant community of feminist legal scholars who research diverse topics in many areas of law. Questions of race, sexual orientation, class, and disability are also explored. Many faculty members are also involved in research related to litigation, law reform, and judicial education, as well as research aimed at producing publications in academic journals and books. Some are on the editorial board of the Canadian Journal of Women and the Law. Please contact any of the feminist faculty members below for further information on how to become involved in these projects. You can also contact the Centre for Feminist Legal Studies at 604-822-6523 or cfls@law.ubc.ca.
